Mess Rules

1. Mess timings

The mess timings will be very strictly followed, and no request will be entertained outside of the mess timings.

2. Mess menu items

Only items mentioned in the menu will be served, and no demand can be made for any item, which is not on the menu that day. The same applies to Jain and the boiled counter.

3. Non-messing and rebate

Any student can choose not to register for mess facility permanently for a semester; in such a case, 1300/- per month will be deducted as compensation. The student may continue eating by paying for an individual meal on a normal per day cost that is applicable to other students. The remaining amount from their mess bills would be refunded at the end of the semester. A form will be circulated before each semester to ask for details of those who would like to go for non-messing during the coming semester. Non-messing is not applicable during the vacation period; it is only an option during the semester. Any student can choose to apply for a rebate during the semester. The total number of days allowed for rebate is 15 per semester. One should apply for a rebate at least 2 full days in advance and for a minimum of 3 days. For any kind of academic leave, 2 copies of the duly signed department leave form should be attached with the rebate form 2 days in advance of your travel.

4. Mess utensils

Taking mess utensils outside the mess area is strictly not allowed. Violating the rules will lead to fines as follows:

(i) For the first complaint: Rs. 500/- per utensil

(ii) For the second complaint: Rs. 1000/- per utensil

(iii) More than 2 violations will result in the revocation of mess facilities. In case of any disagreement, please contact Dean SA.

Note: Please be careful and don't throw mess utensils with food waste

5. Guest

Use guest entry registers or cash coupon system while taking your friends/relatives to eat in our mess. You are not allowed to share plates in the mess for any reason.

6. In case of medical leave

In case of medical leave, facility to have food in your room is available. You are required to submit medical proof of your illness and number of days for which you require meals in your room to the hall manger. The mess staff will bring food to your room and take the plates away for the specified time period. In case of medical emergency, if the hall manager is not available, you should contact us at the contact details given on the bottom.

7. Behavior

Misbehavior with mess workers and council members will not be tolerated at all. Please be respectful whenever you are approaching anyone of these. Any misbehavior complaints will be forwarded to the disciplinary committee. For any complains kindly contact mess council instead of indulging in any arguments with staff.

8. Fridge cleaning

The mess fridges will be cleaned weekly. You are requested to remove all your belongings by Saturday night every week. Any items that remain in the fridge on Sunday mornings will be considered as waste and thrown away. The fridges will be available for usage again from Sunday night after dinner.
